Petroceltic

“I thought the conference was on the whole a very worthwhile event. There was a good range of speakers and topics covered. The seniority of participants was also fairly senior, which is not always the case at these type of events. The venue lent itself well to the event, facilities were good with breakout areas, and enough space to mingle with participants but also plenty of quiet areas.

Overall though, I enjoyed the event. The networking opportunities in particular with delegates from all across the region were excellent.”
